

North Coast 110 miles / North Coast 110 km / Hartland Coast Ultra / Exmoor Coast Ultra / Exmoor Coast Challenge

7-8th November 2026

Overview

The North Coast 110 Mile Ultra takes on the true North Coast of the South West peninsula. We believe that this is our toughest event yet. With nearly 6,000m elevation gain, and 12 hours of darkness, the North Coast 110 mile ultra, promises to be a brutal adventure of epic proportions. The race starts with a particularly hilly section from Hartland Quay, before turning East at Hartland Point. The views out to Lundy island are incredible from here. The hills keep coming as you pass the pretty village of Clovelly and onwards to Westward Ho! From here a flat section takes you around the Torridge and Taw estuaries to join the North Coast 110 Km Ultra in Barnstaple.

New for 2025 and returning in 2026 – The Hartland Coast Ultra (65km) will join the 110 mile race from Hartland Quay to Barnstaple.

The North Coast 110km begins with an exciting night time start. This will take you along the bank of the Taw estuary, through Braunton Burrows and onward to Croyde Bay and Baggy Point. From here, the route continues through the sandy sweep of Morte Bay and Woolacombe, becoming increasingly hilly as you approach Ilfracombe. After another couple of notable hills, you'll pass the stunning Water Mouth cove and arrive at Combe Martin, your half way point. The next section will take you along the entire length of the Exmoor Coast.

The Exmoor Coast Ultra (58km) starts in Combe Martin, and heads east to finish in Minehead, at the official South West Coast Path start/finish marker. This completes a full traverse of the Exmoor Coast and includes the longest coastal woodland in England.

New for 2025 and returning in 2026 – The Exmoor Coast Challenge (38km) joins the Exmoor Coast Ultra at the Lynton checkpoint and stays with it all the way to the end.

All routes are almost entirely off road. They are generally well marked, as they follow the South West Coast Path national walking trail.

This event should not be underestimated, as it is a tough section of coast! As with all Climb South West events, you will be supported by our team with extensive experience and local knowledge of the North Devon and Exmoor Coasts. They will also provide first aid cover at key points along the route, with sweepers on the course in between.

Food and Drink

There will be checkpoints at 7 locations where food and drink will be available. This isn't a fully catered event, but we will have a range of drinks and snacks available to supplement whatever you bring with you. On the 110 mile race, you'll need to be self-sufficient for stages of up to 29km (18 miles) between checkpoints. Please see the table below.

Support Crew and drop bags

We encourage the use of support crews at this event. They can meet you as often as you like but please take care on the roads and park responsibly. Keep noise to an absolute minimum overnight, especially in built up areas!

We ask that support crews do not enter our indoor checkpoints unless it's an emergency.

Participants this year may be accompanied by 1 support runner/walker between the hours of 7pm and 7am.

Participants on the 110 mile race can prepare a small drop bag and give it to us at the start. We will take it to Barnstaple and then move it again to Combe Martin and the finish.

Participants on the 110 km race can have a drop bag which will be accessible at Combe Martin and then moved to the finish.

GPS Tracking

All distances will have GPS trackers. You'll be issued these at registration. They must be returned at the finish or at a checkpoint if you drop out. We'll share a tracking link nearer to the event. Family and friends will be able to use this to monitor your progress.

The route

Most of the route follows the South West Coast Path, with navigation being reasonably simple. It is generally well marked with South West Coast Path signs with an acorn symbol.

The South West Coast Path should be followed as closely as possible without attempting to shorten the route. The only exceptions are below.

Permitted short cut at Instow (10km before Barnstaple CP). Stay on cycleway as shown below.
The GPX and Outdoor Active links go this way.

After leaving Woolacombe CP, continue on road with care until a South West Coast Path sign directs you towards Morte Point. Ignore new SWCP sign that attempts to send you inland just before Watersmeet Hotel!

About 4km before reaching Lynmouth, the coast path splits. The left option takes you out towards Crock Point, but our event route stays on the road. This is marked as “South West Coast Path on road”. Stay on the road until you reach the roundabout at the Valley of the rocks. Event signs will take you from this roundabout to our checkpoint at Lynton Cricket Club.

After Bossington, the Coast Path has changed from previous years. It now avoids Hurlstone Combe and continues to Hurlstone Point. From here, it climbs up to join the path that was previously marked “Rugged Coast Path”. This is the new South West Coast Path and is clearly marked with SWCP markers and acorn symbols. Continue following signs for “Minehead via Coast Path”.

Routes for all 5 distances and GPX files can be found on our website. All routes take the diversions or variations described above.
